

Dear doctor,

I am interested in carrying out a genetic test to find out more about my health and would like to learn more about the tests offered by Biocentaur.

Working from their world-class facilities in Europe, Biocentaur's team of genetic experts analyse DNA extracted from my blood to identify variations or mutations, known as SNPs (pronounced "snips"), to determine my response to anti-inflammatories, antibiotics and anticoagulants.

The test is appropriate for adults aged 18 or over who want to learn more about their health. I understand that if I am feeling unwell or experiencing any symptoms that are worrying me, I should talk to you or another healthcare provider about other options.

Biocentaur also offers a range of other genetic tests. You can learn more about these and Biocentaur's services at www.biocentaur.com

Yours sincerely,
